A Programme for Mothers of GGIS

On 16th January 2016 students of Gyan Ganga International School celebrated the Mother's Day by showcasing their deep and pure love for their beloved mothers. The day was also decorated with the celebrations of Lohri, Pongal and Makar Sankranti celebrations.

Students from Nursery to class V participated in the celebration with lots of enthusiasm. The aim of this celebration was to make a day special for all the mothers who are like security blanket to us. For making mothers feel special and honored Gyanties planned a day and number of activities that was all dedicated to mothers and motherhood.

The guest of honour for today's function was Dr. Vineeta Dubey , school principal Dr. Rajesh K Chandel and other dignitaries who graced the occasion with their graceful presence. The cultural programme was organized which had rhymes, songs, speeches and various colorful dances of different states that depicted the essence of real love, care and devotion of a mother towards her children.

The students also welcomed the New Year by celebrating it in the form of Lohri, Pongal and Makar Sankranti celebrations through which they came to know about various New Year festivals in Indian culture and their importance in it. No: of games were organized for mother's such as Musical chair, bursting the balloon, Paper dance, Ladoo Making etc which were enjoyed by each and every one present there.

In the same sequence mother's were asked to share their great experience of being a mother and their motherhood through the 'questionnaire round' and 'sharing the moment round' which made the celebration the most interesting one. Speaking on the occasion Dr. Rajesh K Chandel School principal expressed his heartfelt thanks towards all the mothers who were present for the celebration. He shared his experience what he had with his mother and saluted all the mothers for their great devotion, care and their unconditional love towards their children. He also highlighted the importance of various religious celebrations for New Year and their importance in making our culture rich and varied.

Further in the celebration the guest of the day Dr. Vineeta Dubey appreciated the hard work done by the staff members and students in making this programme a successful one. She also emphasized on the moment and the happiness that a woman feels and rejoices when she becomes a mother, the incredible moment of one's life. At the end all the mothers were awarded with prizes and were rewarded who performed well in various games. They also enjoyed the appetizing meal with their loved ones and thanked the management and school principal of Gyan Ganga for making their day a special one and giving them an opportunity to express their thoughts and showcase their hidden talents.
