

Gyan Ganga International School Staged “Yahudi Ki Ladki”

On the 17th day of 16th Summer camp Gyan Ganga International School staged a theatrical show “Yahudi Ki Ladki” organized by the Samagam Rang Mandal Jabalpur on Tuesday in the school premises for campers. The programme started with the floral welcome of all the luminaries who graced the occasion with their graceful presence. Members of management, Board of director’s and members of Samagam Rang Mandal fortified the occasion by lighting the Traditional Joyt of GGIS.

The play “Yahudi Ki Ladki” was based on the history of Romans and Jews, when Romans oppressed Jews. The story has been taken from the Parsi drama named ‘Yahudi’. The author of the same is Aaga Hrsh Kashmiri who has depicted the real struggle of Jews and portrayed the romantic love story between the daughter of Jews and the prince of Roman. The foremost aim of staging this drama was to make the campers aware about the Romans and Jews history, their struggle, sacrifices and among all these the real essence of life that is Love.

Members of Samagma Rang Mandal staged the drama in an effective manner and conveyed a strong message that all the worldly factors are small in front of the strong feeling of love and it is an integral factor in every human’s life. Campers were also made familiar with the minute tricks and method that are required to act and perform on the stage. They also inspired the campers to make their career in theater and keep this treasure alive in future.

The concept of the play was directed by Ashish Pathak, Tarun Guha Niyogi and other worthy members of Samagam Rang Mandal. The play was a collage of history of Roman’s and Jew’s and various factors that affects the human life to a great extent.

Speaking on the occasion Chief Guest D.C. Jain appreciated the initiatives of school Principal Dr. Rajesh K Chandel for organizing stage performance of members of Samagam Rang Mandal Jabalpur. He also expressed his heartfelt thanks to members of Samagam Rang Mandal who depicted the drama and conveyed a strong message to the society. In his address he encouraged the campers to make their careers in theater and groom their skills.

In the same sequence, school Principal Dr. Rajesh Kumar Chandel thanked Mr. Ashish Pathak and his crew members for raising the awareness about history and importance of love and affection in one's life through this play. He also appreciated the parents who graced the occasion with their presence.

At the end, members of Samagam Rang Mandal were felicitated with mementos as a token of love and respect, which will be memories from GGIS family.
