

GO GREEN-GGIS CELEBRATED GREEN DAY

Keeping our environment clean and green is the whole sole responsibility of the youth i.e the upcoming generation. With this very thought in mind Gyan Ganga International School organized an awareness program and celebration for junior classes as 'Green Day Celebration'. The students from classes' nursery to III were the main participants of the function. They spread the awareness among the society and youth that keeping our surrounding clean and green is not only essential but also important because it marks our existence on our motherland.

The day was celebrated with various competitions which were organized by the Eco-Club at different levels. For students of Classes' Nursery to Class-III various activities were conducted in which students were asked to sketch down and paint their thoughts and ideas on canvas on the topic 'Save trees Save earth'. In the poster making competition students of all the classes revealed their thought and feelings in very attractive and presentable manner. Afterwards these students were taken for tree plantation activity in which the students brought the saplings and planted them in their school premises. They also took an oath on this day that they will not only protect their environment but also upgrade it by their work of persevering and conserving it.

Speaking on the occasion school Principal Dr. Rajesh Kumar Chandel appreciated the efforts of the teachers for organizing such program and inculcating in students the sense of responsibility and spreading awareness among the young generation regarding the preservation and conservation of their surroundings and grow trees to make their motherland a better place to live in. He also motivated the students and urged them to spread the awareness among the youth to spread greenery as the human activities are deteriorating the environment day by day.
